COOLING SYSTEM MAINTENANCE

- Check coolant level monthly – Losing a small amount of coolant over time is normal, but losing more than that is a sign of a potential leak.
- Test your antifreeze – Before the winter, use an antifreeze tester to measure its strength and ability to protect the engine.
- Flush your cooling system – Check the owner's manual to determine how often you should flush/change the coolant. Older coolant becomes acidic and offers less protection from corrosion and rust and loses its lubrication properties.

- FloTool's 20-Quart Less Mess Drain Pan is great for multiple fluid applications with large capacity, pour spout, and easy to carry handles.
